The inspection season is on in full swing now. During the last few days Reginald C. Vanderbilt has been here making an inspection of Sandy Point Farm; John R. Abney has been looking over his in lower Bellevue Avenue, which is now in the list stages of construction. James J. Van Alen has also been here to look over Wakehurat and the improvements that have been made there since last fall, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. C. Taylor visited the city to inspect not only their summer residence here but their farm in Portsmouth. Two of Mrs. Taylor's sisters accompanied them, Mrs. Herman Le Roy Emmet and Miss Fanny L. Johnson, the latter looking over her own summer home while in the city.

and Mrs. James Laurens Van Alen with the here in April, and James V. Parker in May.

It is said that Charles M. Robinses and Frederick H. Baldwin will speak the summer here this year, and Mrs. Preston Gibson, of Washington, who did not spend much time here to the property of the last season, are to return this year.

Mrs. Joseph H. Willard and the Misses Willard, who have been abroad for the last two years, are to return in a short time, and Joseph Harriman is also soon.

Mrs. Charles Frederick Hoffman arrived late in the week to inspect Armsea Hall and to arrange for its opening in time for her arrival with Mr. Hoffman, in May, which is much earlier than they usually arrive. Mr. and Mrs. T. Suffern Tailer and family are also to join the early arriving class this year, and Honeysuckle Lodge, on the Cliffs, will be opened probably next month.

Ex-Senator George Peabody Wetmore, who, since his departure last fall, has been having some improvements and enlargements made to his villa, is expected in Newport within a short
